

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Dawn.

Mrs. Susan Archer Weiss, says The Independent, in which this poem by Mrs. Weiss appears, was a personal and literary friend of Edgar Allan Poe who admired her poems.

Throw wide the casement—let the dawn
Ere it be—
The cool gray dawn that trembles in the East!
The yet the stary splendor hath not faded
Nor night's low voices ceased;
Still on the borders of the sleeping wood
The sombre shadows brood.

Dew-wet the vine upon my cottage wall,
With sudden thrills among the glossy leaves;
A little bird chirps from its hidden nest,
Beneath the mossy eaves,
Preening its brown wings upon a drooping spray
And lightly darts away.

Rosy the dawn—the morning star hath smiled,
A silvery mist lifts from the distant world;
The tall laburnums by the garden wall
Scatter their drops of gold.
The grassy lawn, wet with the midnight tears,
A sparkling lake appears.

Lean from the casement—bathe your lips in dew,
Breathe in the fragrance of the spicy vine;
Drink the fresh coolness of the summer dawn.

As of life-giving wine,
So, strengthened for the burden of the day,
Go gladly on your way.

BRILLIANT WEDDING AT CARROLLTON, GA.

Miss Brown Becomes the Bride of Lieutenant W. A. Anderson.

A brilliant wedding at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the Presbyterian church at Carrollton, Ga., signaled the marriage of Miss Emily Maude Brown, daughter of Judge and Mrs. William Fannin Brown, to Lieutenant William Alexander Anderson, of the United States Army, son of Attorney-General Anderson, of Richmond. The Rev. W. B. Dillon officiated, using the impressive service of the Episcopal Church.

The church was decorated in palms, ferns and in lovely pink and white roses. Mrs. W. C. Adams, wife of Congressman Adams, played the wedding choruses from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's march. Miss Stanton, a friend of the bride, sang "O Promise Me" just before the entrance of the wedding party.

The bride came in with her eldest brother, Captain Earle Ivan Brown and was given away by her father. She wore a lovely white satin on train, built on soft white silk, over chiffon and tulle, and trimmed in duchesse and rose point lace. Her long, white veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms. The lace on her corsage were caught with the groom's gift, a diamond sunburst, and her only ornament. Her flowers were a shower of bride roses and Swansonia.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Earle Ivan Brown, was beautifully attired in white Japanese crepe, embroidered in pink cherry blossoms and green leaves. She carried pink roses and Swansonia, and wore pearls and diamonds. The groom and his best man, Lieutenant Henry Robert, of the Engineer Corps, were in full dress uniform.

The date of the wedding was changed from October to August 24th, on account of recent orders transferring Lieutenant Anderson from Washington, D. C. to Fort Leavenworth. Lieutenants Dillon, Robbins and Kingsman were to have been groomsmen, with Miss May Phelps, daughter of the United States navy; Miss Florence Rieger, of Wilmington, N. C., and Miss Ellen Anderson, sister of the groom, from Richmond, Va. As plans were altered, when the bride, according to a time-honored custom in military circles, cut the wedding cake at the wedding reception with her husband's sword; Captain Brown, Lieutenant Robert and Mrs. E. I. Brown, cut by proxy for the three bridesmaids, to see which should have received the ring, dime and thimble.

The bride tossed her bouquet, which was caught by a lucky young woman among her many friends present. The matron of honor and maids were presented by the bride with miniature gold swords, in the shape of stick pins. The groom gave his best man and groomsmen one-link monogram cuff buttons, inscribed with the wedding date.

House decorations for the reception, held from 4 to 5:30 P. M., in the home of the bride, were elaborate and developed in smilax, ferns, magnolias, Swansonia and red and pink and white roses. The bride and groom stood beneath the draped folds of "Old Glory" and the flag of the Engineer Corps.

Wedding gifts were numerous in cut-glass, silver, china, linen, bronze and brass. The Carrollton bar, of which Judge Brown is one of the oldest members, presented a handsome silver tea service. The mother and father of the groom gave in elaborate silver service, and a check for ten thousand dollars.

The gift from the bride's father and mother was in valuable real estate. The wedding trip will include visits to New York, Washington, D. C., Richmond and Lexington, Va.; thence to Fort Leavenworth, where Lieutenant Anderson is stationed.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Lieutenant-Commander and Mrs. Harry Phelps, of the United States navy; Colonel and Mrs. H. K. White, United States Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.; Captain and Mrs. Earle Brown, of the Engineer Corps, Washington, D. C.; brother and sister of the bride, Mrs. W. A. Anderson, of Richmond, Va.; Lieutenant Henry Robert, of Fort Leavenworth; Mr. T. M. Thompson, of Southport, N. C., and many others.

DEATH.

By FLORENCE EARLE COATES.

Other selections from this author, her portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

I AM the key that parts the gates of Fame;
I am the cloak that covers cowering Shame;
I am the final goal of every race;
I am the storm-tossed spirit's resting-place;

The messenger of sure and swift relief,
Welcomed with wallings and reproachful grief;
The friend of those that have no friend but me,
I break all chains, and set all captives free.

I am the cloud that, when earth's day is done,
An instant veils an unextinguished sun;
I am the brooding hush that follows strife,
The waking from a dream that Man calls—Life!

the Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Hamilton, became the bride of Mr. Charles Eugene Crist, of Blanco, Texas.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, the Rev. M. S. Colonna, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

While the wedding was a quiet event, witnessed by only a few friends of the contracting parties, it was nevertheless a most beautiful and impressive ceremony.

Miss Janie Lavender was maid of honor, and Mr. William Hamilton, brother of the bride, best man. The bride entered with her father. She wore a going-away gown of navy blue silk, with coat of same material, and hat to match, of stylish Polo effect. She wore a superb diamond sunburst, a gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses.

Miss Hamilton is a pretty blonde, and one of Martinsville's most popular girls. She will be sadly missed by a wide circle of friends throughout Virginia. Mr. Crist is a prominent business man of Blanco, Texas, and his frequent visits to Martinsville have won for him many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Crist, after a trip North will make their home at Blanco, Texas.

After the dance a dainty luncheon was served at the home of Miss Bunkley. DINWIDDIE INDICTMENTS

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, Va., August 24.—Intelligence has been received here of the death, at the home of her parents, in Kinston, N. C., of Mrs. Charles T. Meacham. Mr. Meacham is the general manager of the Chesterfield Manufacturing Company, at Swift Creek, in Chesterfield county. On accepting this position he moved his family to Swift Creek the early part of this year. Mrs. Meacham went down to Kinston several weeks ago to visit her parents, and while there was taken ill with fever and died yesterday. She was highly connected in North Carolina and was greatly beloved. She is survived by her husband and one child.

Mrs. Sallie Cordle, of Brunswick county, is visiting her brother, Mr. John H. Harrison, on Harding Street—the first meeting of sister and brother in twenty years. Mrs. Cordle has been the mother of ten children and the grandmother of sixty-four grandchildren. Nine of the former and forty of the latter are now living. She has also lived to see three great-grandchildren.

At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Allan Potts, on Hinton Street, last evening, Miss Ida E. Potts was married to Mr. C. D. Johnson.

The Farmville base-ball team will come to Petersburg on Saturday to play a game with our "Collegians" Club. The game will be played on the grounds of the Country Club.

The voting contest for the most popular member of the Order of Eagles in the city, which has been in progress during the Red Men's Fair, at Fernside Park, closed last night, resulting in favor of Mr. Charles R. Walsh, chaplain of Petersburg Aerie. The prize awarded is a very handsome charm—a pendant gold eagle, within a crescent made of an eagle's talon.

The grand jury of Dinwiddie county yesterday indicted a negro named Hobbs for attempting to wreck a passenger car on the Fernside Park electric line, and another negro named Montgomery, for violating the State revenue laws in selling liquor without a license. Both cases were continued until the next term for trial. Hobbs has skipped and forfeited his bail bond.

If favorable railroad rates can be obtained, it is probable that many Union veterans of Pennsylvania and New York will visit Petersburg during the Confederate reunion next October. They will come to witness the reproduction of the battle of the Crater, in which many of them took part, as well as to meet on a friendly basis their former foes. It is expected that 25,000 people will attend the reunion.

TOLEDO, OHIO, August 24.—Municipal ownership of public utilities was the question which aroused earnest discussion at to-day's session of the League of American Municipalities.

The conflict of views among the members, which was so apparent yesterday, was intensified to-day by Mayor Dunne, of Chicago, whose speech in defense of municipal ownership was the feature of to-day's session. Mr. Dunne's address covered all the points in favor of public ownership, which he advocated in his recent campaign for Mayor, and he expressed himself as being firm in the belief that the people of his city, along with citizens of other cities, would own and control these public utilities. When asked how soon he expected to secure public ownership in Chicago, he replied that he did not know; that the question had been presented by him to the Council nearly two months ago, but that no action has been taken, and that he is powerless to do anything without the cooperation of the Council.

Mayor Woodward, of Atlanta, who is leading the fight against municipal ownership, replied to Mr. Dunne, holding that private ownership of utilities, properly controlled, is of greater public benefit than if owned by municipalities.

NO QUARANTINE AGAINST THIS CITY

All Incoming Trains Are Inspected at Newport News.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NEWPORT NEWS, Va., August 24.—A report circulated to-day, to the effect that this city had quarantined against Richmond on account of the yellow fever situation, was without foundation. What gave rise to such a report was probably the fact that Dr. A. C. Jones, acting assistant Marine Hospital surgeon, has been inspecting all incoming trains for several days, acting under orders from Washington.

The inspection is merely a precaution to prevent persons who may come from sections infected with fever from coming into this city.

The Old Dominion steamers from Richmond are not bringing passengers to this city now, but the steamship company itself is responsible for this.

The new protected cruiser Charleston did not go over to the navy yard to-day, according to schedule. There was some misunderstanding between the Navy Department and the ship yard, and General Manager Post has gone to Washington to straighten it out.
